

Searching for houses can be very time-consuming and frustrating for most home buyers. This is particularly true if you have less than perfect credit or other prior credit problems. At ShortPropertySales.com we are trying to make your search for houses much easier. We focus on providing you with rent to own houses and houses with owner financing. All credit is accepted for our houses; the only requirement we have is that you are employed or have a steady income history for at least 12 months.

How do you get started with our houses? Start today by completing our housing inquiry form below. Our team of customer service specialists will contact you to discuss available houses in your preferred locations and price ranges. If we do not have the right houses available for you now we will work to find houses that you can review and choose in a short time period.

Fill out my online form . //